

Post-Graduation Outcomes of the Class of 2017

Makayla Grays and John Nugent
Office of Institutional Research and Planning
December 2018

This report is divided into three parts. Results of the annual One-Year-Out survey are presented first. The second part combines information on post-graduation outcomes obtained from the survey (for those who responded) and other sources (for survey nonrespondents). Finally, the appendices present details of graduates' employment and enrollment in degree programs.

ONE-YEAR-OUT SURVEY

Each summer, the Office of Career and Professional Development (OCPD) and the Office of Institutional Research and Planning collaborate to administer an online "one-year-out" survey which attempts to ascertain the activities, particularly employment and graduate school enrollment, of members of the previous year's graduating class. On June 13, 2018, an email was sent to 447 graduates from the Class of 2017 inviting their participation in the One-Year-Out Survey. Of these 447 individuals, 157 (35%) completed at least the first survey question, and 141 (32%) persisted until the end. None of the survey items required—i.e., forced—a response, so there are some missing data.

The survey asked graduates to indicate one primary activity and any number of secondary activities they have engaged in since their May 2017 graduation. Results are presented in Table 1.

Table 1. Self-Reported Primary and Secondary Activities between May 2017 (Graduation) and June 2018

Activity	Percent of respondents who said this was their primary activity	Percent of respondents who said this was their primary or a secondary activity
Full-time paid employment ^a	66.7	74.5
Part-time paid employment ^b	10.6	27.0
Full-time graduate or professional degree program	9.2	9.2
Public service or volunteer activity ^c	4.3	6.4
Unpaid internship ^d	2.8	9.9
Job search	1.4	27.7
Travel	1.4	17.0
Other	1.4	2.1
Preparation for graduate school ^e	.7	20.6
Fellowship ^f	.7	.7
Additional non-graduate coursework	.0	10.6
Part-time graduate or professional degree program	.0	2.1

^aIncludes paid internships, Teach for America, and similar positions that pay a salary. ^bIncludes freelancing and similar arrangements. ^cIncludes Peace Corps, AmeriCorps VISTA, and similar activities that are either unpaid or pay only a small living allowance/stipend. ^dUnpaid or paying only a small living allowance/stipend. ^eResearching and applying to programs, studying for entrance exams, etc. ^fIncludes Fulbright and similar positions. Percentages based on 141 respondents.

Most respondents said that their primary activity since graduation was full-time paid employment. Of course, graduates can be engaged in more than one of the activities listed in Table 1; 57 percent of respondents reported at least one additional, secondary activity. The right column of Table 1 displays the percent of survey respondents who reported each activity as either primary or secondary. Because each graduate can be represented in more than one activity, the right column does not sum to 100 percent.

As shown in Table 1, 75 percent of survey respondents said they had experienced some period of full-time paid employment since graduating, which implies that 8 percent of graduates had full-time employment during this period but did not consider it their “primary” activity. Over one-quarter of respondents were engaged in a job search, although only a small percentage of graduates regarded this as their primary activity. Twenty-one percent of survey respondents were enrolled in some form of education, either a graduate/professional degree program or additional non-graduate coursework. Details of the programs and institutions in which graduates enrolled are presented in Appendices A and B.

Respondents who said their primary activity after graduating was full- or part-time employment, a fellowship, service/volunteer work, or an unpaid internship were asked for details and follow-up questions about their primary position. Questions focused on job sector and the position’s relevance to the respondent’s major(s), perception of how the position relates to his/her career, and how qualified he/she feels for the position. Figure 1 and Table 2 shows overall results for respondents.

The top job sectors for graduates were Management, Business, and Financial; and Science, Technology, and Engineering. Most respondents (84%) said that their primary position after graduation was either directly or indirectly related to their college majors. Most viewed the position either as either a career (17%) or, more commonly, a stepping stone to a career (68%). Most respondents (92%) said that they were either appropriately qualified or over-qualified for their positions.

Table 2. Perceptions of Primary Position Held after Graduating

Question	Response	Percent of respondents
1. Is/was this position related to your major(s) at Connecticut College?	Yes, directly	44.5
	Yes, indirectly	39.5
	No	13.4
	Unsure/it's too early to tell	2.5
2. Which of the following best describes your view of this position?	A career	16.8
	A stepping stone to a career	68.1
	Just something to get me by for now/at the time	10.9
	Unsure/it's too early to tell	4.2
3. How qualified are/were you for this position?	I have/had more qualifications than required (i.e., overqualified)	19.3
	I have/had about the right amount of qualifications	72.3
	I have/had only some of the qualifications required (i.e., underqualified)	8.4
	Unsure/it's too early to tell	0.0

Note. Most common response shown in boldface. Percentages based on 119 respondents.

The survey next asked about graduates' expected primary and secondary activities for the next 12 months—i.e., from July 2018 to June 2019. Sixty-seven percent of respondents said they expected no change in their primary activity, or perhaps change in detail only (e.g., change jobs but remain employed full-time), and 33 percent expected their primary activity category to change (e.g., from full-time employment to a full-time degree program). Figure 2 shows the differences between respondents' primary activities as reported on the survey in mid-2018 and their expected activities for the year ahead. The largest net change was in the percent of respondents whose primary activity will be part-time paid employment, which decreased from 11 percent to 4 percent. The percent of respondents whose primary activity will be a full-time graduate or professional degree program increased by 5 percent.

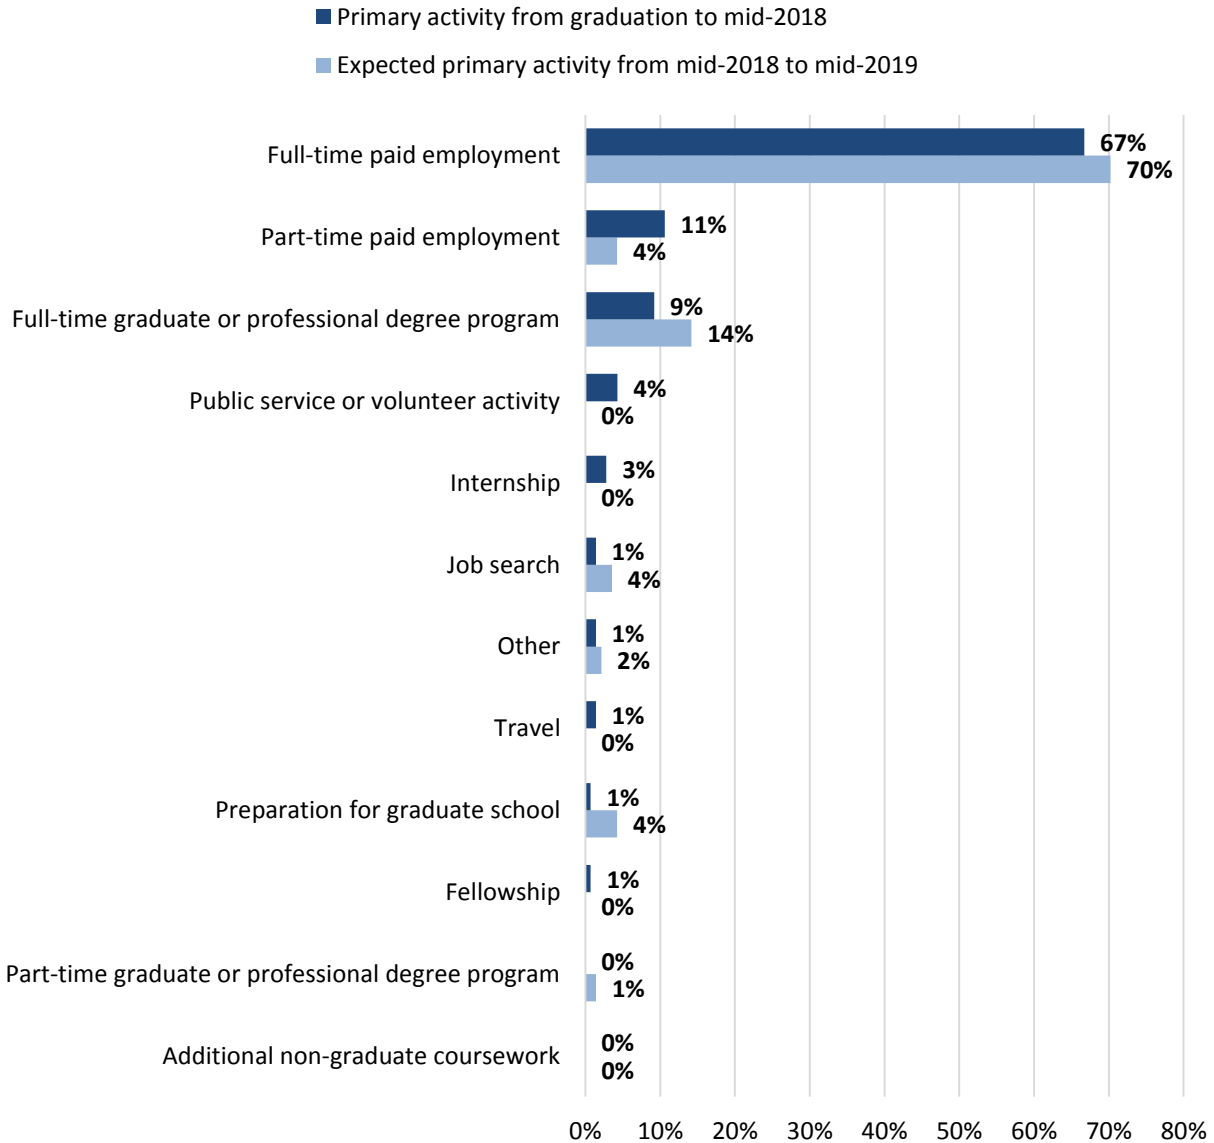

Figure 2. Primary activities as reported on the One-Year-Out survey (dark bar) and expected for the next 12 months (light bar).

Figure 3 shows the differences between activities—primary and secondary—that respondents reported on the survey in mid-2018 and their expected activities for the year ahead. Of note is the increase in the percent of graduates who will be enrolled in a degree program either full-time (up from 9% to 18%) or part-time (up from 2% to 4%). Slightly fewer respondents anticipate searching for a job in the year ahead (23%) than did in the first year after graduating (28%).

These results confirm previous findings that Connecticut College graduates typically wait one or more years before beginning graduate programs, and more generally they show the value of determining graduates’ activities 1-2 years after graduation, rather than their “first destinations” or 6-month-out activities, which some surveys focus on (e.g., NACE).

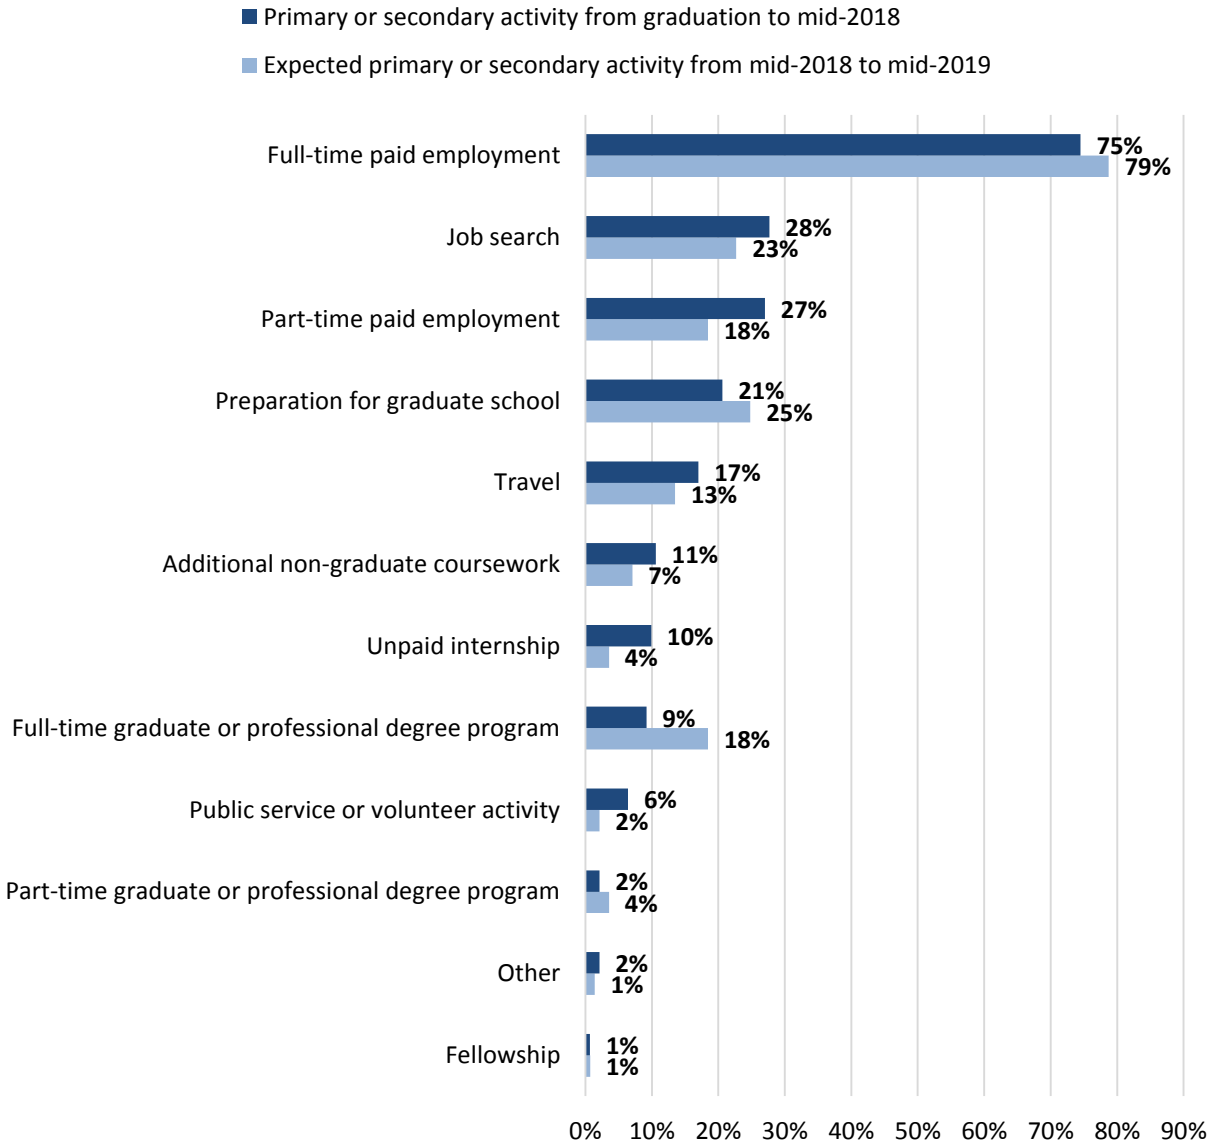

Figure 3. Primary and secondary activities as reported on the One-Year-Out survey (dark bar) and expected for the next 12 months (light bar).

The survey asked graduates who searched for a job in the past year to report on the various job search approaches they have used. Results are presented in Table 3. The most commonly used approach was networking, which was also rated highest in terms of usefulness.

Table 3. Job Search Approaches

Approach	Percent of job seekers who used this approach	Average rating given by those who used this approach 1-not useful, 2-somewhat useful, 3-very useful
Networking (family, friends, and classmates)	97%	2.39
Job aggregator websites (e.g., Indeed.com, SimplyHired, Monster, CareerBuilder)	90%	2.03
LinkedIn (General)	87%	1.94
Volunteering/interning	69%	2.15
CC Alumni Directory	42%	1.81
LinkedIn (CC Networking Group)	39%	1.73

Note. Percentages based on 38-39 respondents.

SUPPLEMENTING THE ONE-YEAR-OUT SURVEY DATA

Because of the importance of thoroughly documenting our graduates' outcomes and the reality that alumni surveys typically achieve low response rates, we took additional steps to learn more about Class of 2017 graduates. First, we queried the National Student Clearinghouse database to identify graduate school enrollments of the survey nonrespondents. Ten graduates who did not complete the one-year-out survey were found to be enrolled in educational institutions as of fall 2018. We also searched for nonrespondents on social media websites (most notably, LinkedIn) attempting to document their educational and/or employment activities since graduating. Overall, we located usable information on what appeared to be current activities for 215 survey nonrespondents. Finally, we asked the OCPD career advisers to provide any information on the remaining students for whom we were unable to locate information. Through this method, we aimed to produce a snapshot of the graduating class at one moment in time that is as complete and accurate as possible, recognizing that some of the information will become outdated quickly due to the fluidity of young adults' lives in the initial years after college.

Combining the data from all sources (see Table 4), we documented the activities of 366 of the 447 members of the Class of 2017, or 82 percent. This far exceeds what one would hope to achieve from an alumni survey alone, and it exceeds the response rates on which many colleges' published alumni outcomes data are based. Summarizing the outcomes is tricky because many graduates are engaged in more than one activity. For ease of reporting, each graduate is presented as having a single outcome, although it should be remembered that this somewhat oversimplifies our graduates' actual activities, which may include a variety of significant secondary activities.

Table 4. Class of 2017 Outcomes and Information Sources

Grand total					447		100.0

Note. One-Year-Out survey outcomes reflect the primary activity respondents reported for the period between May 2017 (Graduation) and June 2018. NSC database outcomes reflect current enrollments as of fall 2018. Web search outcomes primarily reflect the most recent experience listed on graduates' LinkedIn (or other) profiles since mid-2017.

Overall, 77 percent of the Class of 2017 graduates for whom we found outcomes information were employed, and 12 percent were enrolled in a degree program—a total of 89 percent. Another 5 percent had a fellowship or an internship¹, or were working in volunteer and service programs such as AmeriCorps VISTA. Together, then, of the graduates for whom we located information, about 94 percent were employed, enrolled in a graduate or professional degree program, completing a fellowship or internship, or engaged in public service.

Details of the degree programs in which Class of 2017 graduates enrolled as a primary activity are presented in Appendix A (sorted by institution) and Appendix B (sorted by major). These tables include a very small number of individuals enrolled in non-degree coursework or certificate programs, or whose degree-seeking status was unclear. Appendices C and D present details of graduates' employment, fellowships, internships, and volunteer service sorted by employer and major, respectively. For One-Year-Out Survey respondents, details of the primary activity are shown, which may not reflect graduates' current positions. For survey nonrespondents, details reflect graduates' most recent known experience.
